ABSTRACT

This directory provides a comprehensive guide to the staff of agencies and organizations concerned with mental retardation, developmental disabilities, and related disabilities. Street addresses, contact numbers (phone or fax), e-mail addresses, Web page addresses, and names of individuals holding staff positions are usually provided for each organization. Individual sections list information and contacts for University Affiliated Programs (UAPs) and Maternal and Child Health (MCH) Leadership Education in Neurodevelopmental Disabilities Programs; Mental Retardation/Developmental Disabilities Research Centers; MCH Bureau and its programs; Office of Special Education and Rehabilitative Services; National Institute of Child Health and Human Development Administration for Children, Youth and Families; State Directors of Developmental Disabilities Services; and other interest groups. Special Olympics is the world's largest program of sports training and athletic competition for children and adults with mental retardation. One million Special Olympics athletes train and compete year round in 22 Olympic-type sports in over 143 countries and every U.S. state, the District of Columbia and three U.S. territories. Special Olympics is unique in that it accommodates athletes at all ability levels by assigning them to "competition divisions" based on age and ability level. Over 20,000 Games, meets and tournaments are held each year in countries around the world, culminating in World Games every two years which alternate between winter and summer sports.

Special Olympics contributes to the physical, social and psychological development of individuals with mental retardation. Through successful experiences in sports, they gain confidence and build a positive self-image which carries over into the classroom, home, workplace and community. The goal of Special Olympics is to help bring all persons with mental retardation into the larger society under conditions whereby they are accepted, respected and given the chance to become useful and productive citizens.

National Alliance of Veteran Family Service Organizations (NAVFSO)

NAVFSO is an interactive network of family-focused, community-based programs for veterans and their families with special needs. NAVFSO provides member organizations with the following benefits:

- advocacy to develop funding resources to continue and expand support for community-based, family-focused veterans' service programs;
- technical assistance to develop program resources at the state and local level,
- networking among member organizations to facilitate sharing information and expertise;
- training and education to member organization staff to enhance best practices in working with veterans and their families; and
- information dissemination and public education on the needs and issues of veterans and their families.

The majority of NAVFSO organizations were originally funded by the Agent Orange Class Assistance Program (AOCAP). In the course of attempting to serve veterans and their families, we discovered that we were meeting unique and critical needs that were not met in typical veteran service organizations, or other children's/family health, educational or social services in the community. NAVFSO was formed to advocate for the continuation, expansion, and continued improvement of community-based services for veterans and their families.

ADA INFORMATION

ADA Documents are On-Line

The Department of Justice operates an electronic bulletin board system (BBS) that contains its ADA regulations and technical assistance materials as well as some materials from other Federal agencies. These can be downloaded by computer modem by dialing 202/514-6193. The BBS can also be accessed through the Internet. The access codes are telnet fedworld.gov Gateway D, choice 1 #9.

The Department also has placed a variety of its ADA materials directly on the Internet, including press releases on ADA cases and ADA regulations and technical assistance materials. These materials can be accessed with gopher client software (gopher.usdoj.gov), through other gopher servers (choose 9 for North America, 5 for USA, 1 for All, and look for Department of Justice, which currently is option 377), with World Wide Web software (http://www.usdoj.gov), or through the White House WWW server (http://www.whitehouse.gov). On the DOJ Home Page on the Web, ADA materials are located under Litigation Organizations, Civil Rights Division and under Justice Department Issues, Americans with Disabilities Act. the Department's press releases are located under the Office of Public Affairs on both the gopher and the World Wide Web. The Department's press releases are searchable on both gopher and World Wide Web. Speeches by senior officials of the Civil Rights Division can be found on the Civil Rights Division gopher and under Litigation Organizations, Civil Rights Division, Civil Rights Gopher Information.
